GRAFE VINES .- We hope every farmer and every mechanic who owns as much as six square feet of land, will have at least one grape vine gowing on it-a native vine, we mean, not a foreign one for mere show, but one that will bear fruit which will ripen without artificial aid.

It is surprising that so few of our young men take any interest in setting grape vines about the house. It is not because they relish not the fruit, for you will see them traversing the meadows and woods to filch what does not belong to them; and to make sure of their prey they will pluck it before it is fit to cat. How much less labor would it be to take home a root or a cutting and place it where the grapes might hang on till they were fully ripe! We have many fine native grapes in our mead. ows and by the woodside which are at least equal to the imported kinds. In addition to the common purple grape, many sorts of which are rich and excellent, when they are permitted to ripen on the vincs, we have several kinds of reddish grapes that have not the foxy taste which some asike in the purple kinds. Then we have a va-nety of wild white grapes. In our own garden we have two kinds of white, or rather cream-colored grapes, from vines that we procured from our own fields. These ripen in the last of August, a month sooner than the Isabella grape. And these, together with the sabella and the common purple grape, give us an sbandance of grape fruit during five or six weeks of every season. The grape is cultivated with less labor than any other kind of fruit, and it is a constant bearer. It is less subject to depredations of worms and insets than most kinds of fruit, and there is less muble in having it in one's own garden than in going a mile to borrow a supply from a neighhor's meadow.

Young men are informed that grapes can be propagated from cuttings; that is, by burying a rme cut from a growing one. The latter part of April is a good time to bury the vine. One end of it must remain above ground and the other must be kept moist. Ploughman.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS-Before Judge Ingraham.—Edward Clark vs. John Heath, et al.—Action of trespass to recover the value of 3 trunks of clothing, &c. seired on execution at Chatham-square, already referred to.-

The jury could not agree, and were discharged.

Catherine S. Carrall, et al. vs. Clement Robbins.—A young woman in the employment of Mrs. Carroll (mother of the plaintiffs) obtained judgement and execution for $28, on account of wages, and the officer levied on an elegant pier glass, which was replevined by the two daughters of Mrs. glass, which was replevened by the two daughters of Airs. C. who claimed to own it under an assignment from their mother. The present action is to test the right of levy. The jury could not agree, and were discharged.

John E. Denn vs. John O'Brien.—The defendant gave a check for $100, which subsequently passed to plaintiff, who sues to recover the amount. The defendant contended that the check was given for a gambling transaction, and thereore void, and that the plaintiff was aware of its being such.

Verdict for defendants William Dykes vs. Bushwick and Newtown Bridge and Turnpike Company.—The plaintiff owns the schr. Emma Elizabeth, which was engaged last December, in conveying manure to Newtown and other places on Long Island. The situation of the drawbridge over Newtown creek was so bad as to prevent vessels from getting through, and they were detained sometimes 4 or 5 days. The vessel of plaintiff also got seriously injured in December last in attempting to get past, and action is brought for daamages on both accounts. The case will be contined this forenoon. POLICE OFFICE-BURGLAR ARRESTED .- On the night of the 10th instant, the store of Caspar Golderman, of Congress-square, Boston, was burglariously entered by means of false keys, and robbed of cloths, cassimeres, ready-made clothing, &c. of the value of $1700. The next night the store of John Owen, in Cambridge, near Boston, was similarly entered by false keys, and property of the value of from $600 to $700, consisting of 100 fine penknives, 37 gold pencil cases, 13 dozen silver pencil cases, 8 cases of razors, worth $17 cach, and other articles, stolen and carried away. A managed Thomas December 10 December 12 pencil cases. named Thomas Drown alias Dennet was subsequently arrested and committed as one of the burglars. Information of the urglaries having been received by officers A. M. C. and Jas. L. Smith and Walker, of our New-York Police, they on Tuesday night arrested, in Cherry-street, near Market, a man who went by the names George Bingee, alias Williams, alias George Anderson, alias George Martin, but whose real name is George Brown, on whom were found a frock coat and casting partial partial ones, of the property stolen from the store of Mr. Goldermann, and he was committed to be sent to Bos-ton for trial. He is also held for a previous burglary and theft ton for trial. He is also held for a previous burglary and their of a large quantity of lace in that city.

Speculation in Butter.—A German baker, named George Senk, after delivering his bread to his customers, drove with his wagon and large baskets to the foot of Courtlandt-street, and filled his empty bread baskets with pine chips to light up a blaze in his oven. Seeing a firkin of butter, containing 80 pounds, worth $9, the property of A. M. Vanderbelt, of the steamboat Swallow, standing on the wharf, he also threw that into one of his baskets, that his customers might have butter with their Thursday's bread, and then considerately covered the firkin with chips, and and then considerately covered the firkin with chips, and made a movement homeward. Mr. W. Hamilton having witmade a movement homeward. Mr. W. Hamilton having witnessed the butter speculator, had him arrested and conveyed to the Police Office, where he was unceremoniously committed to answer the charge of buttering his bread too thickly.

ARREST OF COUNTERFEITERS.—On Tuesday, Israel Roers and Jonathan Welsh purchased two shad for 311 cents, om a wagon in the street, driven by Adam Frank, of No. S1 Willet-street, gave him a $3 counterfeit bill purporting to be of the Agricultural Bank of Pittsfield, Massachusetts, in be of the Agricultural Bank of Pittsfield. Massachusetts, in payment, receiving $2.68 in change. They then called to a man across the street named James O. Donnell, to whom they gave the shad and all three of them instantly disappeared. The fishmonger ascertained the bill to be bad, gave information at the Upper Police Office, and last night officers Tompkins and Bird arrested Rogers and Waish, and they were committed at the Upper Police Office. The bill is No. 82, letter A, R. Colt, Cashier, and E. A. Newton, President, and all persons who have received any of these bills are requested to call at the Upper Police Office and make affidavit quested to call at the Upper Police Office and make affidavit of the fact. THE "BOODLE" OF BAD BILLS RECOVERED .- The same officers, also the same night; arrested at her residence in At-torney-street, a female named Eliza Campbell, and found in her possession the "boodle," containing $150 of those bad bills. She has been charged before with a simlar offence and was committed for examination.

Robbing a money drawer.—A man named Jacob Weeks was arrested and committed at the Upper Police Office for stealing $19 out of the money drawer of Thomas Cornwell, 58 Tables

The removal of suffering has been the object of the The removal of suffering has been the object of the philanthropist in every age of the world, but the true principles of treating disease progressed but slowly for many thousand years, owing to the limited means of acquiring knowledge; but since the introduction of the printing press and steam engine, it may literally be said "light has dawned upon the world," and the man of the 19th century possesses advantages which his forefathers never did. In this general diffusion of knowledge, remedies have been sought after and discovered in the bountiful storehouse of the vegetable creation exactly calculated to combine with, neutralize and dispel the subtle poison which diffuses itself throughout the general system and prostrates man in the dust. Sayps's Sakstarthila, a poison which diffuses itself throughout the general system and prostrates man in the dust. Sand's Sassaralita, a purely veretable preparation, has been thoroughly tested in a variety of diseases, and is from experience known to be a safe and effectual cure for Scrofula or enlargement of the glands. CONQUEST AND SELF-CONQUEST;

WHICH MAKES THE HERO! . This is a story intended, as its title indicates, to show that true heroism consists in the government of self; and that self-mastery under all circumstances tends more than aught else to success in life, while a yielding to the impulses of passion casts in the way of the aspirant for honor or wealth im-pediments almost insurmountable. It is a lesson of which youth stand greatly in need; and this little volume will form a very appropriate present for the boys of our country.

D. APPLETON & CO. This Day Publish (Vol. 2-Price 50 cents) FICTORIAL HISTORY OF NAPOLEON.

The Life of Napoleon now offered to the public, is transled from the French of M. Laurent de l'Ardeche, Member of the Institute of France, &c. The sale of this work in France alone has exceeded twenty thousand copies within two years. The American edition will be issued in four volumes, at the remarkably low price of fifty cents a volume, each comprising upward of 230 pages, and containing over FIVE HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS.

Illustrating the most striking events in his career both public and private, executed by enumericants is from designs by the celebrated HORACE VERNET; in addition to which the will be given numerous whole-length Portraits of the most celebrated HORACE, VERNET: in automation to what here will be given numerous whole-length Fortraits of the most Distinguished Generals of the French Engire.

"The work is superior to the long verbose productions of Scott and Bourriene—not in style alone, but in muth—being written to please neither Charles X, nor the English aristocracy—but for the cause of freedom. It has advantages over every other memoir extant."

The possession of this work is particularly important and the possession of the second product of the possession of the second product in reading the valuable ing to all who are engaged in reading the valuable ALISON and THIERS,

ALISON and THIERS, as it fully illustrates his views and sentiments in his own words of the important period of history from 1720 to 1815, when as Commander in Chief, First Consul and Emperor he was deciding the destines of Europe.

A volume will be published every fortnight.

The postage on this work is only periodical, and will be forwarded to any who will remit the amount. Two Dollars, in advance. Three copies will be forwarded for Five Dollars. For sale by all Booksellers and News Agents throughout the States.
